

DATA GAPS

The primary gap in available data specific to the Cherokee area is in the area of water quality. The gap in surface water quality was addressed through a water quality sampling program, which completed in the spring of 2005. Data relating to groundwater quality is very limited and could be the subject of future study.